... in concert at the Center for the Arts ...

On Saturday January 15th the group Evermore will present an evening of music and artwork at the Rutherford County Center for the Arts in Murfreesboro. This performance marks a return to the Center for the Arts for Evermore, who were inspired by the Art Shows of Genesis in the 1970's, to express not only a musical, but a visual facet to their concerts.

The band will be performing selections from their two independent releases, "Absinthe" and "Research Among The Ruins", as well as some newly created compositions. Their blending of acoustic and electronic instrumentation reveals influences ranging from Michael Hedges to Peter Gabriel. For this second Center for the Arts show, the band has joined with artist Sarah Neumann, who's bold, modern style paintings will be presented both on stage and in the gallery.

The evening will begin at 8:00 PM with a performance of freestyle acoustic guitar by guest Michael Brown. Tickets are $5.00 and are available at the door or by reservation at the Center for the Arts (press passes will be given if requested). Please call (615) 555-5555 or see the Evermore website at <http://home.earthlink.net/~theblake> for more information.
